

ARABIC TEXTBOOKS

Arabic is central to Islam and Muslim civilization. There is enthusiasm for learning the language among all ages, especially the youth. The absence of Arabic teaching books rooted in the American experience led to the establishment of Noorul Iman Institute (NII) in 1997. Since, its founding, NII has published 15 books and teaching aids for students and teachers. NII was established in Chicago with the objective of developing a curriculum and textbooks for the Muslim youth, especially those born in the West. NII's Arabic textbooks fit to all ages and levels. Textbooks have been tested and approved by several Islamic schools in the U.S. NII's Arabic for Children book was written for the Chicago Board of Education, according to the Board and Illinois State guidelines for bilingual Arabic.
